Catching up at the OT show

Last week at the OT Show, held at the NEC in Birmingham, Rachel Booth-Gardiner and Georgia Vine had the opportunity to catch up. Amidst the buzz of the event, Georgia delivered an impactful presentation, sharing insights into her lived experiences and the importance of inclusion within the profession. She also discussed themes from her book, Occupational Therapy, Disability Activism, and Me: Challenging Ableism in Healthcare, further challenging attendees to consider how occupational therapy can embrace equity and belonging.

Disability History Month 2024

UK Disability History Month (UKDHM) 2024 runs from 18th November to 20th December and focuses on the theme "Disability, Livelihood, and Employment." This month highlights the historical and ongoing challenges disabled individuals face in the workforce, celebrates their contributions, and advocates for greater inclusion.

AbleOTUK has been actively marking the occasion in several meaningful ways. We've contributed a blog post to the HCPC exploring the importance of disability representation in health and care professions, which is being published this week and proudly supported Georgia Vine as she delivered a powerful presentation at the Occupational Therapy Show, addressing ableism and promoting inclusivity in occupational therapy practice.

Our support network is being held on Wednesday, 5th Dec 7pm you can still book to join us via the Eventbrite link here.
